Communication

One of our key themes this year is communication. We are looking for ways to improve the flow of information between school and home. Thank you to the parents who attended 'Meet the Teacher' or have since sought opportunities to get the information shared. This is something we will look to do each year so that expectations are clear.

There is now a school Facebook page and you should have received a letter and protocol about it. We also use E Schools as a form of communication by updating class pages on a weekly basis so you know what your child is studying in school.

In order for the flow of information to be as good as it can possibly be we need all of the information we hold in school to be accurate. This means up to date telephone numbers and email addresses. We have an appointed GDPR controller who ensures that your data is stored securely and in line with new regulations.

You will very shortly receive your data collection sheet. In line with guidance, we can no longer send out your information to amend. You will need to complete a new form. It is imperative that you do this. Imagine that something happens in school and we cannot get hold of you in an emergency.

We are also asking that we have a minimum of three contact numbers. There have been several high profile cases recently where children have not been in school and only one contact number has been provided. There has been no other way for school to check on the welfare of the child and parent and unfortunately this has led to tragic outcomes. I cannot stress to you enough the importance of having several contacts. Please return your data collection sheets into school as soon as possible so that we can update our system.

Spot Light on Excellence...

Democracy in action

This week we have elected our new house captains. All children who wanted to be considered for this important role were asked to prepare a speech to present to their house team who then had the responsibility of nominating the best pupil for the job. I was incredibly impressed with all the children who delivered speeches. They spoke confidently and were very well prepared. It gave their team mates the difficult job of choosing the correct candidate.

As in the general election voting was done in secret and nobody knew the results until assembly on Friday.

Thank you to all the year 6 pupils who participated in the elections and congratulations to our new house captains.

Look out in next week's newsletter for the results.
